

The Abbott Alinity ci-series

Stony Brook Eastern Long Island Hospital delivers high quality, compassionate and individualized care to our patients. Your gift will help us to acquire the new Abbott Alinity ci-series that offers powerful integration across clinical chemistry and immunoassay. These systems can easily scale, combining up to four modules in multiple configurations to meet our laboratory's diagnostics needs and maximize its operational efficiency.

Flexibility—Providing true random access and STAT prioritization

Operational Productivity—Ability to manage the majority of routine PCR test on a single platform

Uniformity—Driving standardizing through simple, universal design elements

Confidence—Delivering on the Abbott legacy of high quality product designs and assays
